SEVERE DECEMBER WEATHER

Period of Cold Weather Now Existing Almost Unparalleled in the History of the Weather Bureau.

Wilmington is at present in the throes of perhaps the severest period of December weather it has experienced since the establishment of the Weather Bureau here in 1871.

November broke all records for the frigidity of its temperature, and December bids fair, from present indications, to do the same. The mercury for the past month has remained uncomfortably near the 20 degree mark in the early morning hours, and this week has brought with it two falls of snow. Tuesday evening and night two-tenths of an inch fell and made it disagreeable for some time thereafter. Yesterday afternoon the second fall began between 3 and 4 o'clock and kept it up at a lively pace until nightfall. Observer Felger promises to do the best he can, but says more of it will come this morning and afternoon unless there is a decided change in conditions.

The records of the Weather Bureau, as it was pointed out to a reporter by Assistant Observer Gray yesterday, shows that only once has snow occurred earlier in December than this year. It was December 13th, 1872, when there was the slightest fall in the morning. Snow has fallen twice in November in Wilmington, but it was scarcely traceable. Other records are: December 27th, 1872, light fall in morning; December 27th, 1877, light snow in morning; December 30th, 1877, light snow for one hour in evening; December 26th, 1878, few flakes between 4:30 and 5 P. M.; December 29th, 1881, snow fell after 10:30 P. M; December 17th, 1883, snow for three minutes in evening; December 27th, 1892, two inches; December 31st, 1894, 1.5 inches; December 28th and 31st, 1899, only a trace.

DANCY APPOINTED.

Will be Recorder of Deeds for District of Columbia, Succeeding Cheatham.

SALARY OF $4,000 PER YEAR.

A. H. Slocomb, of Fayetteville, Said to be Prominently Mentioned for Collectorship at Wilmington — Pritchard's Recommendation.

John C. Dancy, Collector of Customs at the port of Wilmington, was yesterday appointed by the President to be Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia, vice Henry P. Cheatham, colored, whose term of office soon expires.

The selection was made at the same time as that of Dr. J. R. A. Crossland, colored, of St. Joseph, Mo., to be minister to Liberia, and both will be effective as soon as the Senate goes through the formality of confirming them.

The position of Recorder, to which Collector Dancy has been appointed, pays a salary of $4,000 per year, while the emoluments of the office held by him here are now a little less than half that amount; viz. $1,000 salary and fees which are said not to aggregate quite $1,000 during the year. A number of years ago the collectorship here was worth $3,000, but a falling off in receipts, and a change in the system of fees, is said to have reduced the emoluments of the office about one-third.

The office of Recorder at Washington has been held the past four years by Cheatham, who is a North Carolina negro, and Dancy secured the place through administration influences and recommendation by Senator Pritchard, according to dispatches from the capital. There is no special term of office for the Recorder, the incumbent being supposed to hold the office at the pleasure of the President. Certain technical violations were charged against Cheatham some time ago and an investigation resulted in his handing in of his resignation yesterday. Senator Pritchard, it is said, made a hard fight to save him, but seeing his efforts in vain, took up the cause of Dancy and secured his appointment.

A movement was launched by Washington Republicans to have the President re-establish the recordership as a strictly local office to be filled by a Washingtonian and most probably a white man, but this effort failed.

Collector Dancy went to Washington two or three days ago to see if he would have any trouble in retaining his present office, the term of which expires February 27th, 1902, and while in Washington, so it is said, encountered the more lucrative proposition which he has now secured. Pritchard is reported as having told the President that Dancy was an elder of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, a strong worker and speaker; that he had been abroad and was well fitted by virtue of a complete education to discharge the duties of the office. A well known North Carolina Democrat is also reported to have endorsed Dancy, by saying that no man in the State, regardless of politics, would regret to see him successful.

It is said in Washington that the President will make a quick decision as to Dancy's successor here and the name of Col. A. H. Slocomb, of Fayetteville, is mentioned in that connection at the National capitol. It is also known here that Mr. D. L. Gore, of Wilmington, some months ago was practically unanimously endorsed for the position by the banking and wholesale business men of the city and that Mr. B. F. Keith also received endorsement for the position.

Senator Pritchard has recommended for reappointment H. C. Dockery, marshal for the Eastern district of North Carolina; also Collector Duncan for the Raleigh district. For district attorney of the Eastern district Mr. Bernard, H. F. Seawell and Harry Skinner are candidates. Senator Pritchard will make no recommendation until after January 13th. The terms of these officers expire within a little more than thirty days.

Mrs. H. Rehder, the Florist.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Mrs. H. Rehder, the florist, who has been in business in Wilmington since 1875. Mrs. Rehder advertises a number of specials for Christmas, including cut flowers, plants and Christmas trees, which are now in stock in large variety and subject to order. In cut flowers she has this year a very fine stock of roses, carnations, violets and lilies of the valley, as well as many others. In plants she has an extra fine stock of palms, ferns, ficus, begonias, DeLoralnes, Roman hyacinths, and other things beautiful in this line for Christmas. All orders sent now for Xmas will have best attention and will be delivered Christmas morning if desired.

— Mr. R. L. Prempert, the well known travelling man, has arrived in the city. The News and Observer of yesterday says: "Mr. R. L. Prempert, whose presence in the city for the last few days has been enjoyed by his friends, left yesterday for Wilmington and other points, carrying with him in his grip a numerous assortment of Christmas bric-a-brac."

JOINT PYTHIAN MEETING.

K. of P. Lodges Were Handsomely Entertained Last Night by Germania No. 4. Cordial Welcome Address.

The last of the joint Pythian meetings for the present year was held last night with Germania Lodge No. 4 in its Castle Hall on South Front street and right royally in every respect were the visiting Knights entertained.

Mr. J. G. L. Gieschen presided with ability as chancellor commander; Mr. J. D. Nutt as vice chancellor; Capt. T. D. Meares as master of work; Col. W. J. Woodward as prelate; Mr. John Haar as keeper of records and seals, and Mr. J. W. Duls as master-at-arms. Visiting Pythians were welcomed in a cordial address by Past Chancellor S. Behrends and there were interesting and timely remarks by Capt. T. D. Meares, Col. Woodward, Dr. W. C. Galloway, Maj. W. F. Robertson, Mr. J. D. Nutt, Mr. J. J. Hopkins, Mr. W. H. Yopp, Mr. H. E. Bonitz and Mr. J. W. Zimmerman, who enjoys as a member of Stonewall No. 1, the distinction of being the oldest Pythian in the State. The addresses were fittingly closed with one of exceptional ability by Mr. S. Behrends, who spoke from the subject, "Under Two Flags." The address bore the ear-marks of much study and was cleverly presented.

When the exercises were concluded those present were ushered into the banquet hall of the handsome lodge apartments where a table was well filled with dainty refreshments of almost every kind imaginable. Mr. C. F. VonKampen was master of ceremonies here and right well he performed the functions of the place. After the feast of good things was as nearly disposed of as possible, Dr. W. C. Galloway, in behalf of the visiting brethren, warmly thanked Germania Lodge for the excellent manner in which it had shown itself a host.

The committee of arrangements, which is due unbounded praise for the success of the meeting, was composed of Messrs. S. Behrends, J. W. Duls and H. L. Vollers.

ELKS' SECOND ANNIVERSARY.

It Will be Appropriately Celebrated With Banquet Monday Night, Dec. 30th.

Wilmington Lodge No. 533, B. P. O. E., of this city, will celebrate the second anniversary of its installation with an elaborate stag supper or banquet on Monday night, December 30th. The celebration will take place in the handsome Temple of the lodge, on North Front street, and a programme of music, short speeches, etc., will be observed. The arrangements are in the hands of a committee composed of Messrs. L. Stein, E. E. David and Ike Solomon.

Perhaps no lodge of Elks in the Southern Division can boast of more material progress within the past two years than Wilmington No. 533. Its membership has been increased from 30 to more than 150; a handsome Temple has been erected and furnished at a large cost; its contributions to charity have been larger than any similar organization in the city, and last Summer it gave to Wilmington one of the most elaborate and progressive street fairs in the history of the State.

The Elks of Wilmington have every reason to feel exceedingly proud of their past record and to look into the future with nothing but the most pleasant anticipation. The second anniversary should be a royal one and it will be.

NORTH CAROLINA WATER WAYS.

Bills Introduced in Congress by Representatives Thomas and Small.

Congressman Thomas, of the Third district, has introduced a bill in Congress providing that the sum of $9,500 be appropriated to be paid out of any money in the treasury not otherwise expended, to be immediately available and to be expended by the Secretary of War for works of improvement and maintenance of Bogue Sound, between Swansboro and Morehead City, in removing the shoals upon which the depth of water is the least between said points, completing the work of improvement in the sound already partially done under the present approved project.

Mr. Small, of the First district, has introduced a bill authorizing the appointment of a board of engineers to consider the subject of an inland waterway from Norfolk in the State of Virginia to Beaufort inlet in the State of North Carolina, the survey for which was made by Maj. Lucas, of the Wilmington Corps of Engineers, and others about a year ago. The bill does not include the Wilmington waterway some time ago urged by the Chamber of Commerce here.

Rumored Schedule Changes.

It is stated that the schedule of A. C. L. train No. 103, from Norfolk to Goldsboro, will shortly be changed to connect with the local train between Richmond and Rocky Mount at the last named place and with fast mail No. 35 at Wilson. It is also stated that the A. C. L. may change its schedule so that the morning train to the North will connect with the Southern at Goldsboro.

Vessel in at Southport.

A special to the STAR last night from Southport says: "The barquentine Bonny Doon, 510 tons, Capt. Burgess, asphalt laden, from Trinidad to New York, put in here for harbor this evening with cargo shifted. The vessel is otherwise in good condition."

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

Board of Audit and Finance Held Deferred Regular Meeting Last Night.

HOSPITAL APPROPRIATION.

It Was Duly Approved and is Now Available—Paving Contract Referred Back to Aldermen—School Fund Gets Amount of Fines.

The meeting of the City Board of Audit and Finance, deferred from Tuesday evening on account of the lack of a quorum, was held last night, the chairman, Mr. H. C. McQueen, presiding and members in attendance being Messrs. S. P. McNair, Jesse Wildes and John A. Orrell.

The appropriation of the Aldermen of $100 or so much thereof as is necessary for transcribing the city tax books of 1900 for use of the City Attorney was disallowed. The Board appeared to be of the opinion that a transcript of so recent a date was unnecessary.

The chairman was authorized to sign the contract with Roger Moore's Sons & Co. for the Princess street paving as soon as some time is designated by the Board of Aldermen for completion of the work, which it appears has not been stipulated in the contract although it was suggested by the City Attorney at the meeting of the Aldermen last Monday afternoon. Bids were called for with the condition that the work be completed within 90 days from the signing of the contract, but much of that time has now already expired and in the absence of a more expressive condition in the contract it was decided to hold up the matter until things were arranged more definitely.

The appropriation of $2,400 for furnishing the James Walker Memorial Hospital, under conditions already familiar to the public, was approved, it being understood that $400 of the amount is to come out of the regular appropriation, which had that much to its credit before the Memorial Hospital was formally turned over to the city and county. The proviso is merely a technical one and the approval of the appropriation now makes available all the $6,000 necessary for furnishing the institution according to plans outlined by the Hospital Board.

The Board last night also concurred in the matter of paying into the county school fund $498.69, representing the amount of fines, penalties and forfeitures accruing from the police court since Jan. 1st, and for which the County Board of School Directors recently made a demand upon the city in the light of a late Supreme Court decision touching an old law which remained for years not enforced and making these fines, etc., returnable to the school fund, the cost of cases only going into the treasury of the municipality. In future the fines will be paid into the school fund at the end of each month.

The Board refused to allow the bill of Dr. Andrew H. Harriss, amounting to $35, and duly approved by the mayor, as chairman of the Police Committee, for professional services in the surgical treatment of Patrolman E. A. Chadwick, who was badly wounded some time ago by John "Reb" Potter, while the officer was in the discharge of his duty. Members of the Board inquired if it was the city's duty to provide medical attention to its policemen unless they are taken to the hospital.

The City Clerk and Treasurer submitted his monthly report for November, showing a balance on hand from October, $17,385.60; receipts for the month, $21,062.87; total, $38,448.47. Of this amount $30,075.59 was disbursed during November, leaving a balance to December of $8,372 88.

After passing upon sundry bills for current expenses, the Board adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

DAUGHTERS OF THE CONFEDERACY.

Important Matters Decided Upon at Regular Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

The appointment of a committee to confer with the Veterans relative to an appropriate celebration of Gen. Lee's birthday on Jan. 19th; the donation of $40 to be used in furnishing a ward in the hospital in the Soldiers' Home at Raleigh, and the decision to present at an early date Christian Reid's play, "Under the Southern Cross," were the chief features of the proceedings at the regular monthly meeting of Cape Fear Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, held yesterday afternoon in the W. L. I. armory.

Mrs. W. M. Parsley presided at the meeting. Mrs. John C. James was present as secretary, and a goodly number of ladies were in attendance.

The committee on Lee's birthday is composed of Mrs. T. E. Sprunt, Mrs. Wallace Carmichael and Mrs. John C. James. These will confer with the veterans as to the nature of the celebration and a programme of the exercises will be issued in due time.

In the matter of the play to be presented by the Daughters, it was decided to ask the assistance of the Wilmington Light Infantry, and the event promises to be one altogether enjoyable and productive of a good revenue for the Chapter's noble work for the Confederacy.

MAJ. FRENCH STRANGE DEAD.

Citizen of Atlanta Well Known in Wilmington and Fayetteville Died Suddenly Wednesday Afternoon.

[Atlanta Constitution, 19th.]

While talking to a little girl in the store of W. S. Beckman yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock, Major French Strange, a journalist, and for many years a citizen of Atlanta, dropped dead from heart disease. He left his home and walked to the store for the purpose of making a few purchases. He met the proprietor and asked a few questions about trading stamps. Mr. Beckman's little 5-year-old daughter entered the store. Major Strange was always fond of children, and he patted the child on the head and asked her how she liked the weather. As the child was about to frame an answer, Major Strange staggered backward, reeled and fell heavily to the floor. By the time Mr. Beckman could reach his side he was dead. Death seemed to have been instantaneous.

Major Strange had not made any complaint during the day of feeling unwell and when he left his home to go to the store he appeared in good health.

The coroner, after an investigation, decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The body was removed to the home on Norcross street.

French Strange lived in Atlanta many years. He was a man of fine education and of literary ability. At one time he was editor of an Atlanta weekly paper. He wrote for many papers outside the State and was a contributor of some of the leading periodicals of the country. He was quiet and reserved in his manner, but had a large number of close friends.

He was born Feb. 3, 1837, at Fayetteville, N. C., and would have been 65 years of age next February. He was the youngest son of Judge Robert Strange, of Fayetteville. He was a brave Confederate soldier, having ranked as major under General Lee.

His children are L. H. Strange, Miss Mamie Strange, Mrs. E. L. Lippitt, J. B. Strange, Kirkland Strange and Miss Minnie Strange, of Atlanta; Mrs. Robert Sanders, of Florida; Mrs. J. H. Thrie, of Pittsboro, N. C., and Barrett Strange, of Birmingham.

The deceased was the son of the late Judge Strange, and a brother of the late Col. Robert Strange, Capt. J. W. Strange and Mrs. Margaret Strange Huske, wife of the late Rev. Dr. J. C. Huske, rector and rector emeritus of St John's church, Fayetteville. He married Miss Mary Sanford, daughter of the late John W. Sanford, was a practitioner at the Fayetteville bar, besides engaging in merchandising, the firm being Strange & Waterbury, on Green street. After the death of his first wife he married Miss Mary Haughton, daughter of Lawrence Haughton, Esq., of Pittsboro.

COLD ON THE SHIP SUBSIDY SCHEME.

It is the intention of Senator Frye to bring up his remodelled ship subsidy bill as soon as practicable after the holiday recess, his object being to get an early right of way for it and thus lessen the chances of its being sidetracked as the Hanna-Payne bill was in the last Congress. But no matter how early he succeeds in getting it before the Senate he will have a good deal of hustling to do before he gets it through, for there are a good many Republicans in both Houses who are cold on the subsidy business, if not openly opposed to it, so many that with the opposition from the Democratic side the impression of some observant Washington newspaper correspondents is that unless it can be made a party issue, be endorsed by the caucus and actively supported by the Administration, Senator Frye will be doomed to disappointment. Of course he will try to make it a caucus matter and a party question, and will endeavor to secure the support of the Administration for it, because he realizes the necessity of all this, which is pretty good proof that his scheme is not a popular one and that if it gets through Congress it will be dragged through.

In speaking of the prospects for and against it the Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin, who keeps a pretty close eye on the subsidy movement, says:

"The opposition to subsidies of any kind is as strong in this Congress as ever before. A canvas of the majority side in the Senate and House reveals much lukewarmness on the subject of ship subsidy, and the success of the Frye measure will depend upon its being made an Administration measure and being thus forced upon the party. In the Senate the two Iowa Senators are not very strongly in favor of the measure, but it is doubtful if either of them would openly oppose it if the Administration should demand its passage. Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, is another influential Republican Senator who is not enamored of the scheme. In the House are whispers that Speaker Henderson looks upon ship subsidy with a cold glance, but Mr. Payne, the majority leader on the floor, is one of its strongest advocates. Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, chairman of the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, is also a supporter of any scheme to lend Government aid to ship-building. The friends of the measure, however, find great difficulty in exciting enthusiasm or interest in the subject. It is probable that the leaders of the House and Senate will reach some understanding with regard to what shall be done with the Frye bill soon after Congress reconvenes in January."

When the Hanna Payne bill was before Congress its manipulators had meetings held in the Atlantic coast cities, where resolutions were passed endorsing that scheme and favoring its passage by Congress, but they haven't succeeded in working up any popular demonstrations for the Frye job. The fact is the subsidy business was so fully discussed and its fraudulent character so fully exposed that even people who favor encouragement to an American marine lost interest in that if they didn't become disgusted with it. Time has done much to expose the true character of the subsidy schemes and the pretence that subsidies are necessary to give us ships, promote our commerce or encourage our ship builders. Our foreign commerce has within the past few years made almost phenomenal progress, and it did so, as it has been doing for a generation, without an American merchant marine. The people do not conclude from this that a merchant marine would not be a good thing to have, but the fact that our export trade has made such progress without a merchant marine of our own destroys the contention that it is necessary to build up our foreign commerce.

The contention that it was merely to encourage the ship building industry in this country was exploded by the rush of business in all our ship yards and by the new yards that have been established and by others that have been projected. When our ship builders have all they can do and more, there is no decent excuse for asking the American people to tax themselves to pay bounties to them.

It is said that even the trans-Atlantic steamship companies are not taking as much interest in the Frye bill as they did in the Hanna-Payne bill, and that they will not have such a strong, active lobby in Washington to work for it because they are satisfied that if this bill can go through at all it will do so without their assistance, and, therefore, they will save money by dispensing with the services of hired lobbyists. And then they may think it good policy not to seem so much interested in the bill, for some of them who favor subsidies better distributed think the fast steamers are getting more than they are entitled to; when with mail contracts and a pretty good business they don't need any subsidy.

The members who represent agricultural districts or agricultural or mining States don't like the way the subsidy scheme is planned, for if they are interested in a merchant marine to the extent of helping it with subsidies it is a different kind of a marine from that planned by Hanna and Frye and the other subsidy grabbers who had in view principally big fast ships which would be owned and run by large capitalists, and not the smaller freighters which might be owned and run by individuals or companies of moderate means, which are the sort of vessels needed in our merchant marine and the particular kind of vessels the shippers of the West and South need to carry their food stuffs and their cotton to foreign markets. If they had to depend on the high speed ships that the subsidy boomers have in view, most of their stuff would stay on this side of the Atlantic.

The Frye bill gives a little more consideration to the freight ships, a little more because it was necessary to gain favor with Western and Southern members, but he hasn't done enough, for with all his apparent encouragement to the freight vessels the fast steamers get by far the larger share of the proposed subsidies.

There are several conflicting interests and elements that must be placated and reconciled before Senator Frye can run his subsidy scheme through.

MONEY FOR HIGHER EDUCATION.

Europe has some great schools, some of which have been in existence hundreds of years and have grown with age, but there is no country in the world where more attention has been given to institutions for higher education or where they have been more munificently endowed than in this country, and the remarkable thing about it is that this has been done by voluntary individual generosity. The following, which we clip from the Atlanta Constitution, is interesting because it gives some idea of the large amount of money which has been donated to our higher educational institutions, although it does not include all:

"The cause of higher education has received a tremendous impetus this week. On Monday Mrs. Leland Stanford transferred to the Leland Stanford, Jr., university property worth $30,000,000, and on the same day the news was announced that Mr. Carnegie would endow a great national university at Washington with $10,000,000. As if that were not enough for one day, Senator Depew introduced in the Senate his bill of last session providing for a great national school, the University of the United States, to be attended by post graduates only. A part of the property transferred to Leland Stanford university by Mrs. Stanford was originally given by the senator, but there were defects in the title. Eighteen million is in gilt-edge stocks and bonds.

"Girard College has an endowment by Stephen Girard of $25,000,000; Harvard's property is supposed to be worth $14,000,000; the endowment of the University of California is $11,000,000; Yale's is nearly $5,000,000; that of the University of Chicago about $6,000,000; University of Cincinnati $4,000,000; Massachusetts Institute of Technology $4,000,000; Armour Institute of Technology $3,000,000; Cornell $3,340,000; Columbia University $2,000,000; Princeton $1,700,000, etc. The total income of Harvard is put at $1,376,672 and several institutions of learning have incomes closely pressing the million-dollar mark.

"Mr. Carnegie gave $10,000,000 last May to Scotland to found a university. If he gives an equal amount to found a university in Washington his gifts to the cause of education will have footed up over $52,000,000. Here is a statement of what he has already given:

| | |
|---|---|
| Libraries outside of New York city | $ 6,599,100 |
| New York city libraries | 5,200,000 |
| Total American libraries | $11,799,100 |
| Other institutions outside of New York | $18,836,200 |
| In New York | 484,782 |
| Total other institutions | $19,270,982 |
| Total American gifts | $31,070,082 |
| Libraries abroad | $ 1,154,000 |
| Other institutions | 740,500 |
| Gift Scotch Universities | 10,000,000 |
| Total foreign gifts | 11,894,500 |
| Total gifts | $42,964,582 |

Balance in favor of America, $19,175,582

It is said Mr. Carnegie still has about $375,000,000 to be distributed. Isn't such a man more than a king?"

There is not a single Southern school among these mentioned and there are but few of these which have been so favored to any considerable extent. Their day may probably come later. At least, it is to be hoped.

The remark has been made in this connection that while so many millions are being lavished on universities and libraries, so little attention has been given by these givers, these men of fabulous wealth, to our insane asylums, especially in view of the fact that there are so many States which cannot or do not sufficiently provide for their insane, the number of whom is annually increasing.

Here is a field where millions could be wisely and humanely contributed and where they would do more good than when put into these princely endowed schools for higher education, some of which now have more money than they ever can judiciously use.

The German Kaiser has started an anti-beer crusade to break up the custom in the factories of taking a beer recess in the morning and after noon. In this connection it is stated that many workmen consume ten pints a day, while the average is not much below a gallon. This kills time and also impairs the efficiency of the workmen.

MOB RULE IN ENGLAND.

England boasts of being a country of free speech, but there is not much free speech when it comes to differing from and criticising the Government's way of conducting the war in South Africa. No matter what the blunders are, what the outrages are, what shame and disgrace these bring to England, and what suffering and misery to Englishmen and others, no Englishman must criticise or condemn them at the peril of being denounced as a "traitor" and assaulted by a mob, as David Lloyd George, member of Parliament, was in Birmingham, Wednesday night, and as others who attempted to criticise Government methods had previously been.

There are in England a great many as true and loyal Englishmen as live within the borders of that empire who believe that the war in South Africa was not only a blunder and a crime in its inception but a humiliating disgrace to England. They believe that without dishonor to England that horrid and barbarous war could be ended, and that it should be ended without further sacrifice of life or waste of treasure, and they believe it is the part of wisdom and of humanity for England, the aggressor and stronger power, to show a disposition to put an end to it by offering such terms as the Boers could accept without self-abasement and sacrificing their loyalty to those who bore arms with them, and acknowledging themselves the whipped and voiceless subjects of Great Britain. This is all they ask, and for asking this, for pleading for humanity and for Great Britain's honor, they are denounced as traitors, hounded as enemies of their country, and assaulted by wild, howling mobs in "free speech" England, a land of boasted law and liberty. When such insanity rules it is not surprising that the government it represents commits blunders and endorses savagery in the prosecution of that disgraceful and barbarous war.

An Ohio woman has secured a divorce from her husband just because he wouldn't jump into water waist deep to rescue a calf, and let her do it. She said that after that she preferred the calf to him, and the court agreed with her.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— Dewey had orders to find Montojo and smash him. He did it. Schley had orders to find Cervera and smash him. He did it. Dewey is honored. Schley is investigated and condemned. Why this difference? The naval cabal hung upon Schley's heels. Dewey was out of reach of it.—Newport News Herald Dem.

—— The Baltimore American calls attention to the fact that the Government is now paying a company which owns four steamships in the Trans-Atlantic trade $575,000 a year, or the interest on the cost of the ships. Notwithstanding this comfortable subsidy, it is added, the crews of these vessels are shipped in England and paid and fed the same as British seamen.—Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

—— The Louisiana Congressmen are having great difficulty in keeping their Democracy on straight. Protection and its handmaiden, reciprocity, may be so arranged as to very seriously influence the sugar business. In that case the question of tariff is not a matter of principle, but purely of policy. Our Democratic friends are having a hard time to get themselves together.—Chattanooga Times, Ind.

—— The much reprobated reconcentrado system of General Weyler in Cuba and of the English in South Africa has been adopted by American Generals in the Philippines toward the natives in rural villages. An Associated Press dispatch from Manila states, with telegraphic brevity of description, that the roads of the provinces of Batangas and Lacuna swarm with natives, who, with their wives and children, are on the way to concentration camps. It is to be sincerely hoped that the introduction of this system will not be attended with the horrors of the same policy in Cuba and South Africa.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

Whatever you drink outside, let your home beer be Schlitz. That is pure beer. No bacilli in it—nothing to make you bilious.

Beer is a saccharine product, and the germs multiply rapidly in it. The slightest taint of impurity quickly ruins its healthfulness.

We go to the utmost extremes to prevent that. Cleanliness is a science where Schlitz beer is brewed.

We even cool the beer in plate glass rooms in nothing but filtered air.

Then we filter the beer. Then we sterilize every bottle.

And Schlitz beer is aged. The beer that makes you bilious is green beer.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

—Goldsboro Headlight: We are sorry to note the untimely demise of Mrs. Silas L. Ross, nee Miss Ella Vail, which occurred at their home in Society Hill, S. C., Thursday morning. She was a daughter of Mr. Henry Vail, near Pikeville, and had been married about a year.

—Chadbourn Record: News has reached here of the death of Mr. W. A. Mann, of Baldwin township, who died of pneumonia on last Friday night, aged about 60 years. —— Corn is selling here at a higher price than has been known for many years at this season of the year. Very few of our farmers, however, have any to sell, and so the present high price is rather disadvantage than a benefit to most of our countymen.

—Greensboro Patriot: Mrs. Joe Fields died at the home of her son, Mr. Sam Fields, on Laurie avenue, last Wednesday afternoon. She was sixty-eight years old and had been in feeble health for some time. Her death was hastened by injuries received in a fall several weeks prior to her death. —— Joe Jackson, who is well known in Guilford county, and especially in High Point, where he made his home for a number of years, has been heard from again. Along with a number of others he was tried in the Federal court at Raleigh last week on the charge of counterfeiting. Joe had no lawyer to defend him, but managed his case so well that the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty, while his confederates, who were represented by counsel, were convicted.

—Wilkesboro Chronicle: Mr. P. A. Lomax reports a large crop of wheat sown in his section. By the way, his section is one of the largest wheat-growing sections in the county or State. Some dozen or more years ago that was considered a very poor and undesirable section of the county. It is now among the best, because the farmers have gone ahead and improved and developed their lands. —— Old man Frank Bussell is now in jail, bound over to court on the charge of stealing a steer, which belonged to a little girl by the name of Love down on Hunting Creek. The little girl had paid for the steer by her own work. The steer was stolen some two or three weeks ago and sold at North Wilkesboro for beef. A collection was taken up here Thursday for the little girl and come $14 were raised.

—Reidsville Review: One of Reidsville's familiar land marks, Dr. William C. Stapies, fell into eternal sleep early Sunday morning at his residence on Lawsonville avenue. The end was unexpected. Although Dr. Staples had been ill for the past several weeks it was thought that he was greatly improved in health. —— Mr. J. A. Lucas, an aged citizen residing alone with his wife near Monroeton, was found to be in a dying condition early Friday morning, and before Mrs. Lucas could summons her neighbors the old man was cold in death. He had been in feeble health for several years, but said Thursday that he was feeling very well. The sudden death was due to heart failure. —— Mr. John D. Huffines' little baby was badly burned about the face and hands Tuesday, and is horribly scarred and mutilated. Her clothes became ignited and before the flames could be extinguished she had been severely burned.

EASY "SURE THINGS."

Some Propositions That It Is Safe to Bet Against.

There are many things which at first thought appear to be easy enough of accomplishment that it is pretty safe to bet a man he cannot do. Most people know that the human hands are not strong enough to break a new laid egg if the hands are clasped and the egg laid endwise between the palms. It is said that the pressure required to break an egg in this manner amounts to tons.

Among other safe bets is a wager that a man cannot rise from a chair without bending forward or putting his feet under the chair or outside of it.

Many a man will back himself to give another a start of 50 yards in a dash of 100, provided the man having the start hops all the way. But no runner, however swift, can give that amount of start to an ordinary man. For the first five yards they go at practically the same pace. Therefore the runner, to go 95 yards while the "hopper" goes 45, would have to run more than twice as fast, and it would be a weak man who could not hop 45 yards at a pace equal to 20 seconds for 100 yards, and that would mean that the runner in order to win would have to beat all previous records.

If a man boasts that his penknife is particularly sharp, ask him to cut with one stroke of the blade one of those yellow ribbons, mostly of silk, which come around bundles of cigars. In 999 cases out of 1,000 the knife is not sharp enough to do this. It will cut through all the ribbon but the last strand, and that will pull out long, and the more he tries to cut it the longer it will pull out.

It is safe to bet any one except a blind man that he cannot stand without support of any kind for five minutes at a stretch if he is thoroughly blindfolded without moving his feet. If he does not move his feet he is pretty sure to topple over in about a minute.

Snails as Window Cleaners.

"An old colored woman selling snails," says the Philadelphia Record, "occasionally makes her appearance in South street, and sometimes she may also be found along Front street or Second street, up in the district that used to be known as the Northern Liberties. She carries an old basket in which the snails repose on freshly sprinkled leaves. These are not sold as food, but for cleaning the outside of window panes—an old practice still in vogue in Kensington. The snail is dampened and placed upon the glass, where it at once moves around and devours all insects and foreign matter, leaving the pane as bright and clear as crystal. There are old established business place in Kensington where the upper windows, when cleaned at all, are always cleaned by snails. There is also a fine market for snails among the owners of aquariums, as they keep the glass clean and bright."

For Popovers.

The value of a recipe lies partly in its being accurately set down and followed. Harper's Magazine has the following directions for making a breakfast delicacy called popovers, as they were imparted by the Chinese servant to Mrs. Whiting in the family.

"You takee him one egg," said the master of the kitchen, "one lit' cup milk. You fixee him one cup flou' on sieve, take pinch salt—you not put him in lump. You move him egg lit' bit slow; you put him milk in, all time move. You makee him flou' go in, not move fast, so have no spots. Makee but'led pan all same wa'm, not too hot. Putlee him in oven. Now you mind you business. No likee woman run look at him all time. Him done all same time biscuit."

Clerical Sore Throat Explained.

Deacon Scrimp—Humph! Think you have got to have a vacation, eh?

Struggling Pastor—Yes, the doctor says I must go off until this cough is cured.

Deacon Scrimp—Well, I'd like to know why preachers are always getting bad coughs.

Struggling Pastor—Well, you see, we have to visit around a good deal, and we are always asked to hold a little service before leaving, and I think our throats become affected from breathing the dust that flies from the family Bibles.—New York Weekly.

Irving's Sarcasm.

Sir Henry Irving during a stage rehearsal usually stands lost in meditation until some tangle beyond the power of his stage manager to unravel is seen, and then, with a few masterful touches, he starts the skein unwinding once more. He is a mild satirist. Once during a rehearsal of his son's play, "The Leper," it was necessary for every one to shrink back horror stricken from the central figure. One young gentleman did not exhibit sufficient terror. "You're not a dashed bit afraid of leprosy, are you?" asked Sir Henry.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The cotton market opened quiet and firm with prices up one to three points on scattered general demand in which shorts took the lead. This improvement was quite at varience with the cable news from Liverpool, that market having declined fully one point more than expected. Light receipts and continued cold weather in the South were largely responsible for our early improvement. After the first flurry of activity the market lapsed into dullness from which it did not fully rally during the rest of the day. The room followed out yesterday's plan of covering shorts on decline and selling long cotton on every slight advance, the idea being that for the next ten days cotton will follow a very narrow rut and speculation will hang fire. Spot cotton in the belt was steady to firm, with prices generally unchanged, demand was quite brisk at Gulf and Atlantic ports, where prompt shipment of cotton was wanted. Interior receipts as well as those at the ports were light and the estimates for to-morrow's movement did not indicate any great change in the immediate future. The forecast gave little hope for relief; in fact, every prospect favored continued low temperatures, with snow to-night in the Carolinas. Liquidation of January holdings forced that option off at the close. The market was finally quiet and steady, with prices net three points lower to three points higher.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Cotton quiet at 8¼c; net receipts 2,377 bales; gross 7,129 bales; stock 104,655 bales.

Spot cotton closed quiet; middling uplands 8¼c; middling gulf 8¾c; sales 1,527 bales.

SAVAGES IN JAPAN.

THE HAIRY AINOS AND THEIR RESERVATIONS IN THE EMPIRE.

Odd Customs Practiced by These Aboriginal People of Japan. Unique Styles in Baby Names. Their Resemblance to Our Indians.

The Ainus, generally known to Americans and Europeans as "the hairy Ainos," are the only aboriginal people now living in Japan. They are called "hairy" in contradistinction to the smooth faced Japanese, Koreans and Chinese. Their present home is in Hokkaido, or Yesso, the most northerly part of the empire, although it is supposed that in earlier times they occupied most of the entire country. Ancestors of the Japanese of today found them in possession and by force of superior arms and civilization gradually drove them to the north, much in the same way as the savages were driven back toward the Pacific by the early settlers in America.

The Ainus live today pretty much as the Indians on their reservations in the west. They are still for the most part half savage, and the Japanese name for them, "Yesso," means barbarian. They are very skillful in hunting and fishing, which are their chief occupations. They are under the protection of the imperial government and are entirely separated from the Japanese. The latest census showed that they number very nearly 17,000.

Among the many curious customs of the Ainus perhaps the quaintest is their method of naming their children. They observe a peculiar economy in giving names. The infant must go without a name until it shows itself worthy of bearing one. If it is sickly and not likely to live, it is not considered worth while to waste a name upon it. As each child must by immemorial custom have a brand new name, used by no one in the community, names are scarce and must be guarded. If the child should be given a name borne by some one else, the ghost of the former possessor of the name may come back from the underworld to avenge the slight.

It is customary to take a name from some incident that occurred at the child's birth or it is left to the parents afterward to choose one for it. Should the infant come into the world with a smiling face it might be called Ikishimaburu, which means a smile, or fond parents may call it Kamoisage (a pulling rope of the gods) if they wish their child to be in the special care of the gods.

From the age of 7 to 10 Ainu children of either sex have their heads shaved, but after 11 they are allowed to have long hair and wear the same clothes as grown persons. They wear no clothing unless the weather is very cold.

The favorite and almost exclusive ornament is the earring, usually made of metal. What clothing is worn is made of straw. They never wear shoes or other covering for the feet except as a great luxury and mark of distinction on ceremonious occasions.

The men carry small knives and tobacco pouches, and the women carry small looking glasses and knives. The knife is used as symbolic. The maiden wears it with the blade bare, but when she marries it is worn in a sheath. The women also paint their faces, using a kind of ink for the purpose.

The Ainus live mostly by fishing and hunting. They hunt the bear and deer, catch salmon and other fish and grow potatoes and millet. Whenever they can get it they eat rice, which they regard as the best food, though they do not raise it themselves. Both sexes smoke tobacco and drink liquor.

The marriage customs differ widely from those of the Japanese. The question is first settled between the youth and maiden, who then refer the matter to their parents through a mediator, who should be a relative of the prospective bridegroom. The man must send a present of lacquered ware, which is regarded by them as one of the most precious things in the world. This, however, is reclaimed by him if his wife afterward seeks a divorce.

Ainus live in dwellings of about the same class as those of the American Indians. The rude hut has two windows, one of them for ordinary earthly uses, the other reserved for the entrance of the gods.

Woman is fairly treated and held in deep respect. The man is not allowed to enter the house when the woman is in it alone, and he is not permitted to walk behind a woman. When a man meets a woman, he must salute first, by smoothing his beard and rubbing his hands. Then she responds by touching her nose with a finger of her left hand.

During October the Ainus hold a religious fete, which is called the bear festival, because they sacrifice a bear which has been carefully fostered for three years.

Judicial punishment among the Ainus consists of a severe beating with a stick administered to the culprit. The crimes are generally theft—stealing articles or the wife of a neighbor. As there are eight men to one woman the majority of the males are not married, and wife stealing is very common. The accused is subjected to a long examination by the chief of the community and is then compelled to resort to the ordeal of fire. He must take a stone out of boiling water. If innocent, the Ainus think he will not be injured. If the question cannot be settled in this way, the principals in the dispute must fight it out.

The Ainus are polytheists, though they limit their gods to two, a god of fire and a god of water. The first is called Kabekamoi and the latter Hatokamoi. They, also, like most peoples who have a religious system, believe in some sort of heaven and hell.—Japan and America.

Unknown Canada.

One-third of the area of Canada is practically unknown. There are more than 1,250,000 square miles of unexplored lands in Canada. The entire area of the Dominion is computed at 3,450,257 square miles; consequently one-third of this country has yet been untraveled by the explorer. Exclusive of the inhospitable detached arctic portions, 954,600 square miles are for all practical purposes entirely unknown.

Most of this unknown area is distributed in the western half of the Dominion in impenetrated blocks of from 25,000 to 100,000 square miles—that is, areas as large as the states of Ohio, Kansas or New England are yet a secret to white man.—National Geographic Magazine.

A Double Runaway.

"They have a new coachman at the Rippenbangers."

"What's the matter with the old one?"

"He let the horses run away."

"Did they run far?"

"Clear out into the suburbs."

"Anybody with him?"

"Yes, Mamie Rippenbanger. She and the coachman haven't got back yet."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ANIMAL LIFE.

The army worm is essentially a grass eating insect, though it often feeds upon other plants, and is said to prefer oats to corn.

The malapteçurus, a fish only eight inches long, can develop a shock of 200 volts of electricity in the two-thousandth part of a second.

Several pairs of pigeons which a scientist has observed in Paris have raised their young in nests made entirely of hairpins collected on the paths of the Luxembourg.

The largest nest in the world is built by the mound bird, a sort of Australian fowl. It makes mounds sometimes 150 feet in circumference, in which it buries its eggs five feet deep.

The heaviest bird that flies is the great bustard. In size it exceeds the Norwegian blackcock. The old males weigh about 35 pounds, but when food is plentiful the young males may weigh 40 pounds. Great bustards were formerly as plentiful in western Europe as partridges. Now they are rarely found.

St. Christopher.

The belief was that any one who looked at a representation of St. Christopher was safe for that day from an evil death. The saint was always portrayed of colossal size and is so painted at the entrance of most Spanish cathedrals that all may see him. None of the many carved figures of this saint approaches in size one which was removed from Notre Dame at Paris in 1785.

It was said that St. Christopher's original occupation was to carry people across a stream, and the legend is that once a child presented himself to be conveyed over. At first his weight was what might be expected from his infant years, but presently it began to increase and so went on till the ferryman was like to sink under his burden. The child then said: "Wonder not, my friend. I am Jesus, and you have the weight of the sins of the whole world on your back." Hence St. Christopher is represented carrying the infant Saviour across a river with the globe in his hand.

St. Christopher has an interesting place in the history of typography in consequence of a wood engraving of his figure, supposed to be of date about 1423, being the earliest known example of that art.

For the Children's Sake.

"They say he married her because he felt that his children needed a mother."

"Yes. He has just bought her a $250 toy dog and sent his children to live with his first wife's mother."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Ebony is always soaked for 6 to 18 months as soon as cut. It comes chiefly from Mauritius and from Ceylon and the East Indies.

Widowers, like tumble down houses, should be repaired.—New York World.

Strikes A Rich Find.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerve and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, CUTICELIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 20.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON'S PROTEST

It Will Object to Dewey's Finding That Schley Was in Absolute Command at the Battle of Santiago.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Dec 19.—The protest in behalf of Rear Admiral Sampson against the minority finding of Admiral Dewey, president of the Schley court of inquiry, will not be filed with the Navy Department at Washington to-day but will go forward to-morrow. Stayton and Campbell, attorneys for Rear Admiral Sampson, have been given until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning to file their brief and the document will not leave New York until to-night.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Mr. Theall, acting for Mr. Stayton, counsel for Rear Admiral W. T. Sampson, to-day called at the Navy Department to see Judge Advocate General Lemly. Mr. Theall stated that the objections to the findings of Admiral Dewey will not be filed with Secretary Long until to-morrow morning. In brief, the statement will object to Admiral Dewey's finding that Admiral Schley was in absolute command at the battle off Santiago bay, on the ground that testimony touching this point was not admitted during the sessions of the court of inquiry.

Navy Department's Reply to Schley.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The Navy Department has not yet prepared its answer to the bill of objections filed yesterday by counsel for Admiral Schley, but it is so far advanced that it will be ready for delivery to-morrow. Captain Lemly and Solicitor Hanna having given a good part of to-day to the work. The following letter today was addressed to Admiral Schley:

"DEAR SIR—The department has received your communication of the 18th instant, wherein you request that if a protest is filed by Rear Admiral W. T. Sampson relative to the question of command of the American naval forces during the battle of Santiago and credit for the victory won in that battle, you be accorded an opportunity to present through your counsel oral argument against such protest.

"In reply, you are informed that when such protest is received, you will be advised of the department's conclusion. Yours, respectfully,

"JOHN D. LONG."

A CONCILIATORY STEP.

Bill to Revive Grade of Vice Admiral for Sampson, Schley and Clark.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, December 18.—Representative Pearre, of Maryland, today introduce a bill reviving the grade of vice admiral of the navy, and authorizing the appointment of William T. Sampson, Winfield Scott Schley and Charles E. Clark to the grade of vice admiral.

As Mr. Pearre represents the district from which Admiral Schley comes, and has been an active adherent of the admiral, the proposition to unite Admirals Sampson and Schley and Captain Clark of the Orogon in advancement to the rank of vice admiral is regarded as a conciliatory step.

A bill was introduced in the Senate to-day, by Mr. Penrose, reviving the grade of vice admiral of the navy and promoting Admirals Sampson and Schley and Captain Clark to that rank.

ROOSEVELT COMMENDS IT.

Plan for a National Forest Reserve in the Southern Apalachian Region.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—President Roosevelt to-day sent to Congress a letter strongly commending the plan for a national forest reserve in the Southern Apalachian region. The letter accompanied the report of the Secretary of Agriculture on this subject. The President states that the facts ascertained set forth an economic need of prime importance to the South, and hence to the nation as a whole, and they point to the necessity of protecting through wise use a mountain region whose influence flows far beyond its borders with the waters of the rivers to which it gives rise. After referring to the marvelous variety and richness of plant growth in this region, the President says it is unsurpassed for purposes of a hardwood reserve and he earnestly commends the project to Congress.

MISSING MISS CROPSEY.

Submarine Lighting Apparatus to be Used in Searching for Her Body.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

GAS EXPLOSION AT PITTSBURG, PA.

Nine Men Burned to Death, Five Others Injured, Three of Them Fatally.

LIKE A VOLCANO IN ACTION.

Explosion Occurred in a Big Blast Furnace—The Men at Work at the Top A Most Horrible Sight—Were Many Narrow Escapes.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 19.—By an explosion of gas in the Soho furnace of Jones & Laughlid, near Brady street, this city, at 6:20 o'clock this morning, nine men were burned to death, three injured so badly that they are not expected to live, and two others dangerously hurt. The damage to the plant will amount to $20,000.

The explosion occurred in one of the big blast furnaces. The men were at work at the top of the furnace, over 120 feet from the ground. Gas, which had accumulated in the furnace, exploded and tons of molted metal, cinders and slag were thrown over the unfortunate men on the top of the structure. All the men made a rush for the elevator, but it had gone down and there was no escape. The jump meant death and to remain on the platform was just as certain doom. Tons of molten metal and flames fell upon them and burned nine men to death. Their bodies dropped to the roof of the mill, 85 feet below, every bone broken and an unrecognizable mass of human flesh.

Ordinarily, only three men work on top of the furnace, but this morning about 6:15 o'clock one of the heavy iron wagons used in taking up the ore to the top of the furnace got stuck on the top of the structure and the three men sent for assistance. A few men went up, but they could not move the wagon and more men went up until the number reached 14. It was while they were trying to get the wagon released that the fatal explosion took place. All the men at work on top of the furnace were Slavs and Poles.

A Horrible Sight.

Eye-witnesses say that it was the most horrible sight they ever witnessed. They say that when the explosion took place there was one great loud report and the murky heavens were illuminated with a great sheet of flame, showing the men on top of the furnace running about and gesticulating wildly. The flames and hot metal looked like a volcano in action. Five of the men were blown off the top of the furnace and strange as it may seem, these men are the ones that are still living. The others hung on the railing, some on the outside, others on the inside, until their clothing was burned off. Two of the victims hanging on the outside held on and remained tenaciously clinging to the railing until their fingers were burned off. They then fell to the roof of the mill, dead.

Seven of the victims were found dead on the platform of the cupola. These were completely denuded of clothes by the flames and their bodies were burned almost to a crisp.

Many Narrow Escapes.

Hundreds of pedestrians on Second avenue had narrow escapes from death when the explosion occurred. Tons of ore, coke and hot cinders, some of the pieces weighing almost three pounds, rained down on Second avenue, and many had to run into houses and stores for protection. Car No. 369, of the Homestead division, was passing just at the time the gas let go. The coke and other material falling on the car, which had twenty-five passengers aboard, caused a panic and many jumped off, and more would have followed had not the coolness of the conductor saved them. None of the passengers was in the least injured, but all were badly scared.

Over two tons of the debris fell on Second avenue and a force of fifty men was put to work to clean it off the tracks. Traffic was impaired, but within an hour after the accident all the tracks were cleared.

The people residing about the furnace and for blocks on either side were badly scared. They rushed from their homes and a few minutes after the report had sounded throughout Soho thousands of people gathered about the furnace.

Two of the victims were found in the stock yard of the plant, 250 yards from the furnace. They were horribly burned, but had they not been, they would have been killed by such a force. Every bone in their bodies seemed to have been broken.

HEAD-ON COLLISION.

Three Trainmen Killed and Twenty-five Passengers Injured.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19.—North and south bound Southern Pacific coast limited trains, running between this city and Los Angeles, came together in a head-on collision at Uplands early this morning. A fireman, a baggageman and an express messenger were killed and twenty-five passengers were more or less injured, but probably not one fatally.

Both engines were demolished and the baggage and smoking and chair cars of the north bound train were burned.

None of the passengers or cars of the south bound train was injured. The only passengers hurt were those in the smoker and day coaches of the north bound train. In the smoker were half a dozen Italian laborers. Four of them were badly bruised and scalded by escaping steam.

A FRIGHTFUL DEATH.

Young White Man Killed in the Union Copper Mine at Gold Hill, N. C.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 19.—A special to the Observer says that Ross Russell, a young white man employed at the Union Copper Mine, at Gold Hill, met a frightful death this afternoon. Young Russell had been working at the bottom of a 500-foot shaft, with five other employes of the mine, sending up buckets of ore.

At 6 o'clock the men who made up the last shift of hands for the day got into the bucket and gave the usual signal to the hoister man at the top. He was talking to some one and allowed the hoist to get beyond control. It consequently hit the "popper head" with great force. Young Russell was knocked out and sent downward 500 feet to his death. His body was brought up shortly afterwards a mere mass of jelly.

CIVIL GOVERNMENT FOR THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

An Important Legislative Measure to be Introduced in the House Soon After the Recess.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Secretary Root and Representative Cooper, of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Committee on Insular Affairs, were in conference to-day, and as a result of this and further conferences to be held during the holidays an important legislative measure is to be drafted for a complete civil government for the Philippines. Already the measure is framed in the rough and the perfected bill will be ready for introduction in the House soon after recess.

The bill, in the rough draft, covers the questions of mining and forestry with a view of developing the industries, at the same time regulating the acquisition of mining and timber lands; the disposition of the lands of the friars; the regulation of franchises, the establishment of banking facilities; the enactment of coinage and currency provisions, requisite for the peculiar conditions there existing. The regulation of franchises is considered of prime importance, the idea being to so frame this branch of legislation as to encourage the investment of capital in the Philippines, giving the Filipinos opportunity to work and thus allaying their discontent.

It is stated that the general purpose of the measure is to bring about self-government among the natives at the earliest practicable date and this is to be accomplished largely by giving stability and systematization to the many civilizing agencies of commerce, banking, exchange, education and telegraph.

IRISH LEAGUE OF AMERICA.

Meeting of the Executive Committee—Address to People of This Country in Behalf of the Irish Cause.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, December 19.—The provisional executive committee of the United Irish League of America, formed by the Irish envoys, Redmond, McHugh and O'Donnell, before leaving for Ireland, held its first meeting to-day at the Hoffman House. John F. Finerty, of Chicago, president of the league, presided, and most of the twenty-one original members of the executive committee were in attendance. General Thomas M. Brady, of Canton, Ga., was added to the executive committee.

A constitution and by laws based on the lines of those of the old league were adopted. Arrangements were made to organize the country in support of the Irish leaders and the United Irish League of Ireland.

The executive committee drafted an address to the people of this country on which the committee bases its claim for active support of the Irish cause at the present time. The address reads in part:

"The grievances under which Ireland, after the lapse of generations still labors, would justify an appeal to arms, were her military resources and opportunities equal to her wrongs and her resentment. Were she in a position to draw the sword, or use the rifle with even a show of success, we would prefer that method of obtaining her rights and avenging the insults heaped upon her by a remorseless government, to any other. But we know that she is at present untrained, unarmed and without formidable allies, and her people are not in a position to cope with the land and sea forces of England.

"We neither denounce nor renounce the principle of an appeal to physical force under favorable conditions, but we are fully aware that the application of such force for the obtaining of the rights of Ireland does not seem immediately practicable."

The address then endorses what Mr. Redmond and his associates said as to the important part which emigration is playing in keeping Ireland down, and continues:

"The great task, then, of this, our own generation, is to strive and root the Irish people in their soil. The young rural people of Ireland must be given a living interest in the land that gave them birth. In order that they may cleave unto the soil they must be made farmer proprietors.

"This, allied to the underlying cause of Irish national independence, is the noble mission of the United Irish League of Ireland."

The address calls upon all Irish-Americans to form branches of the United Irish League of America, to co-operate with their Irish brethren in the cause of national liberty and agrarian reform.

ROBBED BY ONE MAN.

Bank at Springdale, Ark., Raided and All the Money in Sight Taken.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

FAYETTEVILLE, ARK., Dec. 19.—At noon to-day the bank at Springdale, a town ten miles north of here in this county, was robbed by one man. No one was in the bank except the cashier. The robber drove up to the bank door in a buggy. He walked to the cashier's desk before he was noticed. He compelled the cashier to go to the vault and give him all the money in sight, about $7,000. While this was taking place a citizen walked into the bank. He was at once covered by the robber's revolver and made to throw up his hands. The robber then hurriedly left the bank, dropping $1,000 upon the walk. He jumped into his buggy and drove rapidly north. Officers were soon in pursuit and two miles from town came in sight of him. He jumped from the buggy and made his way to a thickly wooded mountain. Bloodhounds have been put upon his track and there is every assurance of his capture before morning.

RIVER STEAMER SUNK.

Eight of the Crew Were Drowned—All of the Officers Saved.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLESTOWN, W. VA., Dec. 19.—The Steamer Kanawha Bell, which runs between Charlestown and Montgomery, went over Lock No. 3, at Pant Creek, on her down trip to-night, broke in two and is a total wreck. Eight of the crew, all deck hands and roustabouts, were drowned. All the officers of the boat were saved, but some of them had narrow escapes. The river had been high for several days. There was a furious current at the lock and the pilot was unable to control the boat on approaching it. The Calvert, another boat owned by the Calvert Brothers, went to the rescue of the survivors and brought them to this city.

A stranger was found frozen to death on a straw stack near New Decatur, Ala. A card in his pocket bore the name John P. Richmond, Cincinnati, Ohio.

NICARAGUA CANAL A SPECIAL ORDER.

Consideration of the Bill in the House to Begin Tuesday, January 7th.

RECESS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Both Houses Adjourn Until January 6th, 1902—Proposed Constitutional Amendment to Control Trusts—Proceedings in the Senate.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 19.—Before the House adjourned to-day over the holiday recess a special order was made for the consideration of the Nicaragua canal bill, beginning on Tuesday, January 7th, and to continue until the bill is disposed of; the order not, however, to interfere with revenue or appropriation bills. The session of the House was brief, the majority portion of the time being occupied by Mr. DeArmond, of Missouri, in making a personal explanation regarding reports circulated in this district concerning his course in the matter of the extension of the rural free delivery.

Mr. Hepburn asked unanimous consent that the Nicaragua Canal bill be made a special order for Tuesday, January 7th.

Mr. Cannon asked whether the passage of the bill would embarrass the executive in securing the right of way through Nicaragua or Costa Rica.

Mr. Hepburn said he knew of no negotiations that would be interfered with by this legislation. On the contrary, he said, legislation must precede acquisition; the bill itself providing means for the acquirement of the right of way.

Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, said this was in no sense a political question, and there was no objection to the proposition on his side of the House.

Mr. Cannon said he was in favor of building the canal, but he thought there should be a place to put the canal before it was authorized. As this was a request for consideration, however, he said he would not object to this, and after some further discussion, the order for the consideration of the bill was made.

At 1:45 the House adjourned until January 6th, 1902.

To Control Trusts.

Representative Jenkins, of Wisconsin, who proposed a constitutional amendment to control trusts in the last Congress, to day introduced a measure of similar character, providing:

That "Congress shall have the power to regulate commerce in the the United States.

"All private corporations, co-partnerships and joint stock companies in the United States shall be under the control of Congress.

"Congress shall have power in the United States to regulate, control, prohibit and dissolve all contracts and dissolve all contracts and combinations in restraint of trade or commerce.

"In absence of legislation by Congress pursuant to this article, all powers conferred upon Congress by this article may be exercised by the several States.

The Philippine Bill.

In the Senate to-day the bill temporarily to provide revenue for the Philippine islands, which was passed by the House of Representatives yesterday, was referred to the Committee on the Philippines.

After a brief executive session the Senate adjourned to January 6, 1902.

NICARAGUA CANAL BILL.

Report of House Committee On Commerce, Urging Immediate Undertaking of the Work

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Representative Hepburn, of Iowa, chairman of the House Committee on Commerce, to-day made the report of the committee in favor of the Nicaragua canal bill. After stating the terms of the bill the report says in part:

"The purpose of this bill is to concentrate authority and responsibility for the construction of this great work in the hands of the President. It has been believed by your committee that this course would be a safer one to be pursued in carrying out the purposes of the bill, involving the expenditure of so large a sum of money, all the work and all the expenditure to be made at a distance so far from the capital, than any other method that could be devised. We have tried to concentrate authority and responsibility rather than to disperse it among many persons."

The report refers to the "exhaustive report made by the Isthmian commission, of which Admiral Walker is the head, in which every feature of this enterprise is fully and at length discussed," and adds:

"No doubt is expressed by the commission as to the practicability of the enterprise, on the contrary they join with a score of predecessors in expressing their belief that the work can be carried to a successful termination, within the limits of reasonable cost and reasonable time. All of the great political parties are committed to the policy of the construction of this canal."

The report then quotes the declarations of the various party platforms and of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, favoring the canal. In conclusion it says:

"In view of the many thousands of pages written and spoken in advocacy of the immediate undertaking and completion of this work, in view of the pledges made by the parties that it should be undertaken and completed, in view of recommendations made by the President of the United States, and in view of the almost universal demand of the American people that Congress should at once do something effective in the inauguration and speedy completion of the Isthmian canal, your committee content themselves with this brief report, embodying their earnest recommendation that the bill pass."

THE BOER WAR.

British War Office Taking a More Hopeful View of the Situation.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The Associated Press learns that the War Office has come into possession of a cipher telegram purporting to have been sent by the Boer Commandant Delarey, stating that he could not hold out longer than January.

According to the correspondent of the Times at Pretoria Delarey is believed to be forty miles northwest of Klerksdorp, with about 400 men.

The War Office is taking a more hopeful view of the war than it has taken at any previous time.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

Marconi Explains the Possibility of His System—Contention With the Anglo-American Cable Company.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Dec. 19.—Marconi's attorneys here have informed counsel for the Anglo-American Cable Company that Marconi will temporarily cease his tests of wireless telegraphy, and without admitting the rights of the Anglo-American Company, will notify that company prior to resuming the tests.

At a luncheon given by Gov. Boyle to-day Marconi made an address, in which he said:

"If my system of wireless telegraphy can be commercially established between different parts of the earth, the possibility of which I may state that I have not the slightest doubt, it would bring about an enormous cheapening of the methods of communication at present experienced. The system of sub marine cables of to-day fulfills the demands of communication to a great extent. But the great cost of the cables themselves, and their heavy working expenses, causes the existing method to be beyond the reach of a majority of the people inhabiting the various countries of the world. But could this new method be applied, I believe the cost of what we now call cabling to England might be reduced at least twenty-fold. The present rates are twenty-five cents a word. I do not see why, eventually, with the wireless system, this cost should not be reduced to one cent a word or less."

Emphatically Denied That His Illness Gives Rise to Alarm.

It was emphatically denied, that his illness is such as to give rise to any feeling of immediate alarm. He is not confined to his bed, but moves around the house at will. Last evening he occupied his accustomed place at the family dinner table.
